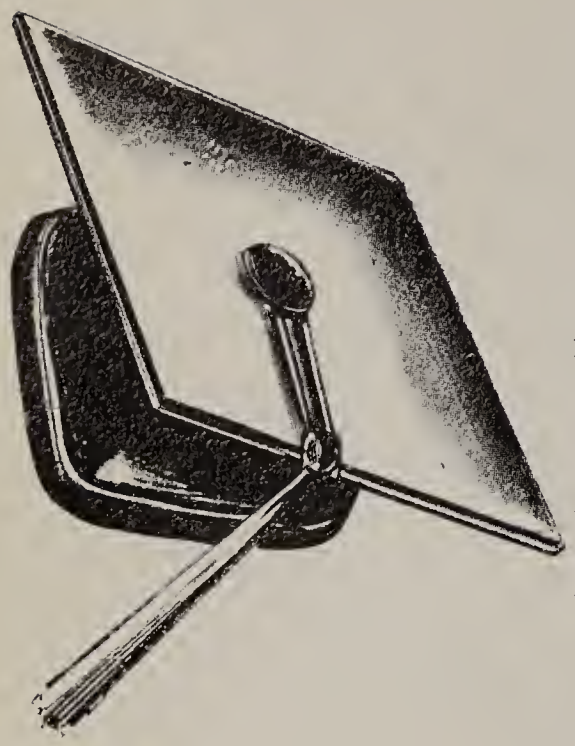
Farewell Seniors As You Look Forward



How often will we recall those cherished moments of High School after Graduation? Will we ever recapture that feeling of uncertainty and loneliness as we entered those awesome doors as Freshmen? Will we remember freshmen speeches as we stood stuttering at the front of the room? Will we ever revive the memory of the first semester exam and the guilty feeling of not studying hard enough? Will we remember disecting frogs, fish, and worms in Sophomore Biology. Will we ever reminisce over those painstaking hours of the written assignments of books during our Junior year. Will we ever recall being idolized by Freshmen and refusing to believe that there was ever a time when we looked up, with jealousy, to the upperclassmen.

As time passes, chances are that some incidents and people will fade in your mind. However the most important thing that we will retain when we glance back at our four years in High School is the contentment of warm friendships, the joys of participation, the grief of failure, and the sorrow of departure.

The members of the Annual layout staff hope that while leafing through the pages of the yearbook now and in the future many outstanding memories will be brought back and strengthened. Good luck to the class of "70".

Seated: E. Swanson, L. Gamble, President, B. Russell, Standing: L. Scott, T. Reilly, K. Sorlie, H. Smith, R. Warfield, Superintendent.

Richard Warfield

Superintendent

In preparation for tomorrow's world one must learn to think systematically and be able to arrive at logical conclusions. Change is inevitable and we are living in an era when instant progress is a way of life. Education is essential to the American way of life and to our nation's security. The Wauconda Board of Education, administration and faculty have attempted to provide the student with knowledge and experiences that enable him to adequately cope with the world in which he will live.

Dr. Jack Wagoner

Principal

Every student is unique in that his purposes, goals, and objectives are different to some degree than those objectives of students around him. Wauconda High School finds the challenge then to encourage and help each and every student to more clearly define his objectives as well as to provide assistance in determining how each student can best achieve those objectives.

Because Wauconda High School has accepted this challenge, students may be better prepared to find success and happiness in life.

The Class Of 1970

Senior Introduction

The past four years have passed so quickly for some of us Seniors, that it seems like only yesterday we were wandering helplessly through these halls as Freshmen.

This Class of Seventy came to Wauconda High as a fine and potential class. Through the years we have greatly improved ourselves Our keyword has been "willpower."

As Freshmen we set our minds to be the most successfull and greatest class ever at W.H.S. With the help of dedicated leaders and determined students, we can honestly say we have accomplished our goals.

And as we graduate in June from this school, where we have learned and laughed and loved, we know that we leave as friends. As we travel down the roads of successes and failures into our futures, we will think of our days at Wauconda High, that have consisted of such wonderful happiness, and we will be gratified with fond memories.

Newzine

The Newzine, monthly publication of Wauconda High School, is a means for students to express their talents in writing, photography, and art. The journalism class, hard-working people with assorted interests, makes up the editorial staff. Striving for a professional looking paper, the Newzine trys to present national news of student concern, as well as humor and coverage of school and community activities.

Student Council

Charity projects, dances, assemblies, and exchanges were among the usual activities of the Student Council. This governing body of our school attempted to concern itself with matters other than these. Bonds from student to administration were strengthened.

The foreign exchange program was initiated. As a body, we voice out opinions and took a stand on controversial issues in and outside of school. During this year Council's role in our school has gradually changed to an organization of great influence.

The National Honor Society of Wauconda High is an Honorary organization rather than an active one. Because the members are involved in other extra-curriculum activities, they voted the National Honor Society should function as an Honorary organization. To be considered for this honor, students must achieve a 3.8 grade average. Each member must also posses leadership, service, character, and scholarship.
